Quarantine Order for Passengers Entering Malaysia

From 1 June, all those entering Malaysia will have to pay RM150 for each day they are in mandatory quarantine.

Malaysian citizens, however, will only pay 50% of the charge. Non-citizens including spouses and dependents who are of permanent resident status will have to pay the charges in full.

For those who want to return to Malaysia will have to sign a letter of undertaking agreeing to bear the quarantine costs. The signing of the letter can be done at Malaysian Embassies and High Commissions. After the agreement is signed, the office will also issue a letter permitting them to return to Malaysia.

The Immigration Department will also be issuing a directive to all airline companies to make it a condition for passengers disembarking in Malaysia to have the letter.
